Information and Updates from the Internet

Since Elster first presented itself on the Internet in the autumn of 1998, we have registered a steadily growing number of visitors, which only proves that the information is well appreciated. In the age of electronic media, we offer our customers a wide range of information concerning our products and services and provide them with the opportunity of contacting us directly.

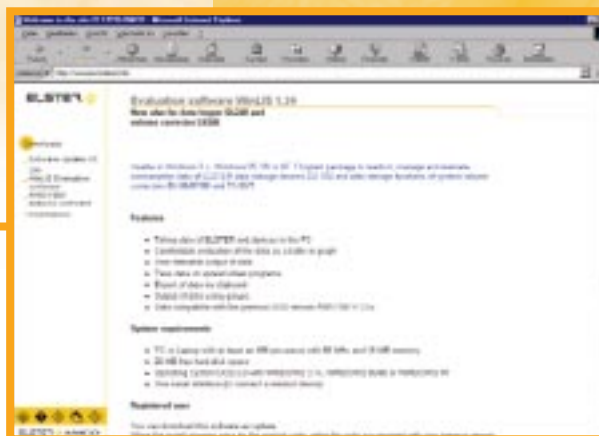

Complete product range

You will find detailed information on all of our products organised according to their areas of application. The information includes details on product features and the individual applications. On top of this, there are complete sets of technical data sheets which can be downloaded as PDF (portable document format) files.

Easy downloads

Download is a magic word in the world of the Internet. It means that the user can take a program from the Internet and store it on his PC. Nowadays, this is a fairly standard procedure for any PC user. We also offer our customers and anyone who might be interested this super quick service.

You can access the downloads directly from the portal page or via the navigation list. When you reach the download section, you can download the current versions of our standard software applications. In addition, you will receive valuable information on the latest developments in the software and this will help you to remain up-to-date at all times. Registered users can install the programs directly without having to consult Elster.

In the future, we intend to extend this service to include further information and documents from the electronic segment, e.g. operating instructions and exercises taken from seminars.

Elster seminars – When – How – Where – What?

Of course, it is not possible to gain valuable practical experience on the Internet or by reading glossy brochures only. You can only use a product effectively and efficiently if you really know it inside out. Information on German seminars can be found on our web site, e. g. you can find out when and where they take place and what material is covered. Seminars in English can also be arranged specially to suit your needs.

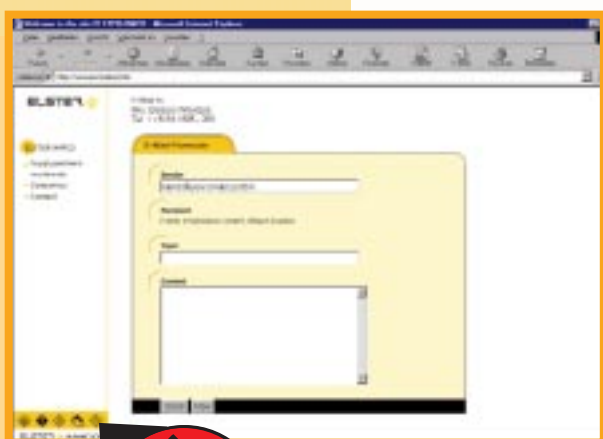

Now where did I see that information about the volume corrector? And where was it I read about the Elster Group?

The answers? In Elster's Profiles! Maybe you remember a particularly good article from one of the editions of Profiles and you would like to get your hands on it again? Well, that's no problem. The last few editions of our English customer magazine can all be found on the Internet.

You will also find the person to contact for whatever information you require or you can contact the editorial team directly at the following address: Biedermann@elster.com

E-Mails – But where to?

If you still have any questions, just give us a call. Or send an E-Mail to your contact person at Elster.

It's quite simple: If you click on the symbol  you can call up a special form with which you can send us your questions or requests. You will definitely land at the right person who can then tell you all you need to know about gas metering and regulating.
