

GAS CHINA 2002

International Exhibition on Gas, LP Gas, Natural Gas Technology and Equipment

During the golden month of October, ELSTER-AMCO participated in the International Gas China Show held in Beijing, 24th – 26th October, 2002. As the leading manufacturer of gas measurement and control equipment in the world, ELSTER-AMCO presented itself as a highly technological and innovative player in the gas industry. Our products on display covered all our main businesses, including residential, industrial, systems and integration. Our two Joint Venture partners in China, Shanghai ELSTER-AMCO Gas Equipment Co., Ltd. and Qianwei Kromschroeder Meters Co., Ltd. also exhibited their products.

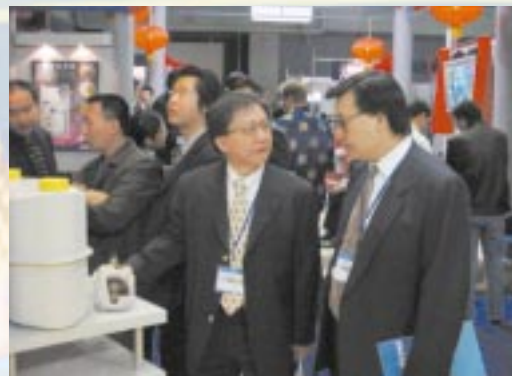

Our booth displayed products from different manufacturers within the group. There were residential and commercial diaphragm meters, industrial turbine meters and rotary meters equipped with EK230 and EK260 correctors (highly regarded by our Chinese customers), ELSTER-JEAVONS and AMCO regulators, regulation and metering systems and IGA Orpheus 4. The Gas-net F1 flow computer and Gas-lab gas analyzer were the highlight of the exhibition.

The gas-lab in particular generated a great deal of interest from many large gas companies in China. The products exhibited by our two Joint Venture partners were industrial turbine and rotary meters from SEAGE and BK-G2.5 diaphragm meters from Qianwei Kromschroeder.

During the three-day event, about one thousand visitors visited our booth, many from gas companies throughout China and also international visitors. Among them, Alfred Chan, Managing Director of Hong Kong China Gas, the Deputy Manager of Beijing Gas Group, GM of Shanghai Gas Group and Chief Engineer of Harbin Gas Company were our VIPs and key customers.

In conjunction with the exhibition, we also organized a two-day electronic products training session for our customers and distributors who came from China, Pakistan, Korea and Thailand for the seminar.

We would like to thank the product managers from ELSTER, AMCO, ELSTER-JEAVONS and our Asia staff from Beijing, Shanghai and Singapore for their teamwork and contributions to the success of the exhibition. We believe that through this exhibition, the communication between Chinese customers and ELSTER-AMCO will be strengthened and ELSTER-AMCO will play a very important role in the development of the gas industry in China.
